"Made from Negroamaro, the wine has some red and black cherry fruit with a touch of herbs. The palate is firm with refreshing acidity and an elegant complexity and depth of fruit on the finish. Drink 2009-2012."

4 of 5 stars, Decanter, May 2009

Brigaldara Amarone della Valpolicella '05 [375ml/12cs] $25.95

"...I loved it for its superb balance and harmony. Sweet red cherries, herbs, leather, spices and earthiness are buffered by finessed tannins as this soft-textured wine opens in the glass. This is a great introduction to Amarone. Curiously, the 2005 comes across as more advanced than the 2004, and I would choose to drink it on the young side. Anticipated maturity: 2008-2015."

"Saturated red. Powerful aromas of black raspberry, candied cherry, licorice and smoky minerals. Sweet cherry and dark berry flavours coat the palate, with dusty tannins adding gentle grip. The licorice note repeats on the finish, which clings impressively and betrays no rough edges. Pretty sexy wine, and drinking well right now."

90 pts, International Wine Cellar, Jan/Feb 2009

Champagne Gaston Chiquet Special Club Brut 1999 [750ml/6cs] $61.95

"This '99 is predominantly Chardonnay from Ay, blended with Pinot Noir from Hautvillers and Mureuil. It's remarkably youthful for the vintage - and for its age - with tight flavours of quince, red fruits and richer undertones of earth. Clean with a beautiful balance, this feels as if it could live on for years."

Wildass Riesling 2007 $14.47

“Fruit is sourced from the Niagara Escarpment. Moderate intensity, reserved, ripe stone fruit flavours, floral honey - petrol notes, already showing some maturity. Dry, full bodied for Riesling, quite rich and substantial with a lot of weight on the palate and very glycerous. More of a Pinot Gris-like texture; moderate plus finish. A solid, muscular very ripe style best enjoyed in the short to mid-term.”

Brigaldara Amarone della Valpolicella 2005 [375ml/12cs]

$25.95

"The 2005 Amarone della Valpolicella Classico is a relatively straightforward wine but I loved it for its superb balance and harmony. Sweet red cherries, herbs, leather, spices and earthiness are buffered by finessed tannins as this soft-textured wine opens in the glass. This is a great introduction to Amarone. Curiously, the 2005 comes across as more advanced than the 2004, and I would choose to drink it on the young side. Anticipated maturity: 2008-2015."
